Defective myelination in the absence of sortilin. Sortilin was identified by means of mass spectrometry as a novel postsynaptic target in the central nervous system. Sortilin-deficient mice have been studied in models of axonal degeneration and myelination. The visitors could have taken the lead inside six minutes, but from Jamie Jackson's corner, Luke Donnelly couldn't control it and the ball skidded inches wide of the right-hand post. Posh were given a boost five minutes later when Tom Barkhuizen was withdrawn and Craig Alcock took his place in goal. The same side of the pitch was repeated almost immediately when Barkhuizen was replaced by Olly Lee. The Lilywh

While not an AIDS-like condition, toxoplasmosis is one of the most common causes of birth defects in humans as well as of neurological problems such as schizophrenia and other psychiatric conditions. The discovery that just one in 1,000 infected monkeys develops toxoplasmosis is particularly important in recent years, said Dr. Ronald Moyzis, chief of the Microbiology Branch at the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases in Bethesda, Md.
