If I have a one-to-many relationship in my domain class as such: class Book { static hasMany = [author: Author] } class Author { static hasMany = [books: Book] } How can I write a query in Grails to traverse such relations and get results like: Book1.author.name Book1.author.books.first().name I am aware of the "with" clause but I need to specify "books" as well in that clause. I'd like something that works like this: Book.with.author.books.first().name How do I write a Grails domain class query to do this? I know this is possible in Hibernate via the Criteria API but I haven't been able to get this to work with Grails. A: in schema.xml create the join table using the
