What's new in Elden Ring:

Battle.Construct.Explore.Connect.

The fantasy adventures of Elden Ring, which continues MMORPG TERA.

First up we have an on going game called Sword of Talelor. Sword of Talelor launches on August 25 in Japan and August 30 in North America. We will be offering a look at the game with a hands on play, will post the interview with the CEO of NGOLD after he plays the game. I highly recommend you read this video! >

Next we have a few aspects of the MMORPG from TERA that are new to us. One being the warfront. This brand new initiative allows players to unite at one zone and rule a faction of their own. While a unique aspect of the game, its not the first we see it in this fashion, but luckily NGOLD has already shown footage of a warfront using Dawn of the Elder God characters. In these videos players can watch their factions rise to powerful factions, strong in the light. At a glance these are the new achievements and rewards so look forward to what is coming up for this new feature. Tenders and warfronts are on this week! What part does your clan play in the guardians of lore?

A horse pulling a carriage along the cobblestoned village streets of Muri in the Swiss Alps played the lead in the spectacular procession which saw some 15,000 people in attendance. Rescued from the brink of death, the girl suffered from a condition where her pituitary gland stopped producing the hormone that controls the temperature of her body. The hormone was responsible for raising her metabolism, but the condition meant that the temperature would be incredibly low. On Christmas Eve, the girl was discovered by volunteer firefighters who took her to a hospital in the Swiss city of Basel where she received help from doctors who were able to raise her temperature and stabilise her condition. The girl was discharged from hospital yesterday morning and she and her family arrived at the church just after dawn. Hundreds of well-wishers on the street cheered and applauded as the horse and carriage slowly made their way along Muri's streets. Crowds of people waved and cheered at the sight, with some making the sign of the cross in a show of devotion to the girl as she made her way past. A pastor in Muri explained that the procession had been organised by an anonymous donation of £30,000 pounds which had made it possible for the girl to undergo the operation that will save her life. In video footage, the girl can be seen waving to well-wishers at the church as the horse and carriage is parked up. Parents of the girl were said to have been supportive of the idea of a procession. "I was with my son, I thought: 'What a nice thing to do,' " said a woman called Pauline Rinder,
