“The new animation system is our most ambitious in terms of the amount of player animation that we’re able to accomplish in a game that isn’t massively larger than the previous one,” said Harvey Elliott, Creative Director, FIFA and Jeff Strader, Creative Director, FIFA. “For fans, we’ve been working closely with you to make sure your favourite 11 are ready for the next challenge.” For the first time, FIFA 22 introduces “Dynamic Player Motion”, a gameplay-first movement system that allows the player to perform a variety of actions in full-scale matches and short training modes. Players are able to step out of tackles, engage in dribbling maneuvers, make blind passes, lay offs, drift plays and more. The system analyzes player movement in real time and adapts character animations, player motion and positional awareness to provide a more authentic game experience. FIFA 22 introduces “HyperMotion Technology,” which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. Player movements, actions, and reactions are now dynamic in real time. In FIFA 22, in training modes players can perform precise movements without creating a specific animation sequence. The game mode is very addictive, and the Pro Evolution Soccer games (including PES 2016) really don’t compare to the complex gameplay.
