Zeg on the lookout.

Upon recovery, by the grace of Vaylin, the halls were empty, and the God-king Zeg, her trusted liege, was nowhere to be found. The door to the side chamber remained secured shut by the brutal guard he had left behind. Even worse than the sudden loss of his king, was the thought of how this terrible dungeon had been an effective artifice. Loyalty was a problem he had never had before.

It was pointless his efforts. With the slurry of blood on the floor, and the blade in his throat and chest, King Zeg had perished before he could begin to think through what had happened. The guards were foolish enough to speak of it as the peasants were coming down with the fever. But Zeg knew better. It was not a rumor. He could feel it. By the mere chance of Vaylin's unexpected attack in Marcella, it was as simple as that. The veins, the prophets foretold. It was evidence they were correct and already about. The fight for Elidor would soon begin. Though he had little time to mourn, Zeg had already ordered his most skilled soldiers and adventurers to set their thoughts to victory.

As Zeg carried on, his consciousness was still consumed with thoughts

1, Extract the.RAR and.exe files you have downloaded to install ELDEN RING. 2. Done. THANKS TO DROIDJENN :D This post has been edited by FJB90: 04-26-2015, 10:02 AMQ: Can I assign ArrayList to ArrayList I want to assign a ArrayList to a ArrayList. Like this: ArrayList new_game_records = new ArrayList(); But I get a compiler error message saying The method new() is undefined for the type ArrayList Can anyone tell me what is the problem? I have also tried this: ArrayList new_game_records = (ArrayList)this.game_record_list; But I get a compilation error message stating "The constructor GameRecord() is undefined". A: You should assign this instance of ArrayList to a normal ArrayList instance. ArrayList new_game_records = new ArrayList(); However this is not that different from: ArrayList new_game_records = new ArrayList(); Difference Between Interrogation and Investigation Interrogation and investigation are two different methods of collecting information from a subject. Interrogation basically means finding out the answer to any question, for example, where did you meet your boyfriend, did you have a fight with your partner last night, did you participate in any discussions on social networking sites like facebook, and so on. Investigation on the other hand implies finding out the details of any incident, that has occurred in the past. Interrogation mainly serves an administrative purpose while investigation is carried out by police, army, law enforcement agencies and other such organizations. Interrogation is generally used for gathering information from a subject, where as the information is obtained from an individual by an investigator. The investigator, however, may ask a lot of irrelevant questions while conducting an investigation, which in turn may lead to a frustrated and angry response from the subject. Interrogation vs Investigation Interrogation is mostly used to confirm the details of an incident. It normally does not involve any of the following: Identification of
