A cartoon-styled running man is inside a square clock. Both are in motion. There are three buttons on the bottom. Hold down the button (Start on boot) to show the clock ticking. You can also select Clock, or Quit or Wait. The clock is analog - you'll see just one digit. The game does start at the correct time, and runs for all eternity. At the end of every second of gameplay there is a second of silence. It can be heard by using Volume-up. If the clock loses track of time, the game becomes a little longer. If the clock loses track of time, the game becomes a little longer. nfsRun Screenshots: nfsRun Screenshot #1: nfsRun Screenshot #2: nfsRun Screenshot #3: nfsRun Screenshot #4: nfsRun Screenshot #5: nfsRun Screenshot #6: nfsRun Screenshot #7: nfsRun Screenshot #8: nfsRun Screenshot #9: nfsRun Screenshot #10: nfsRun Screenshot #11: nfsRun Screenshot #12: nfsRun Screenshot #13: nfsRun Screenshot #14: Built in a better version of the nfsRun screensaver for GNU/Linux. You are a man who has time to waste. He has nothing to do, and his life is empty. At least, that's what he thinks. After all, the only thing that's keeping him from emptying his life is his wish to drink his breakfast coffee in peace. (While he has plenty of coffee at home, he drinks only coffee at work. Because his boss hates it.) But the peaceful atmosphere of the morning is spoiled by a loud and annoying snore. And so begins a little adventure for this cheerful little man who seems to be cursed by the bad luck to have a snoring friend in every city. In nfsRun, you travel the world to chase this sound of a snoring friend, battling every obstacle that's placed in your way. But, not only the sound of a snorer makes your life full of problems. You also encounter funny situations and obstacles, such as an annoying taxi driver who is obsessed with knowing your destination. Other people will try to stop you from visiting your friend, so you'll have to negotiate and escape from all kinds of situations and situations. nfsRun game features: - The first animated screensaver made for April Fools Day 2005! - Random music - Animated day and night scenery - Online statistics: - Average score: 5/5 - Downloads: around 200,000 - Enraged downloads: around 1000 - Downloads per day: 5,000-7,000 - Downloads per week: 6,000-10,000 - Total downloads: 600,000+ - nfsRun Website: Read our NFS-Run FAQ: Read the community forum: Send Email Power Marching Drummer. nfsRun is a free animated screensaver of a running man inside a square analog clock. The day starts with nfsRun remaining active. As the day goes by, the screensaver of nfsRun becomes nonactive. On the first day the running man is extremely fast and it will be a sad day of watching him. The screen-saver of nfsRun has a clock with a watch and a meter showing the time left to go. In addition, a small eye-like mark is located on the clock and the clock's eyes open up in the first minute of the screensaver. The meter will slowly run out during the night hours as the screensaver of nfsRun becomes inactive. Have fun on April Fools Day and discover how little time is left for nfsRun to become inactive. nfsRun give a little more detail regarding why you feel the way you do. You seem to have just jumped on my nfsRun fesale but don't know it. Others will be downloading it and I believe they'll have questions too. Comment Thank you for the download. I think you should give a little more detail regarding why you feel the way you do. You seem to have just jumped on my nfsRun fesale but don't know it. Others will be downloading it and I believe they'll have questions too. Thank you and sorry. I don't really know what to say. There have already been a lot of users who have used it, I have helped only one. The man in the clock is extremely fast because I wanted him to be the same as the "man" in the public domain. If I had to be more specific, my knowledge is limited to nfsRun.

I have only used one screen-saver site before with it so I don't know what is expected. I thought that the absence of the whole day would be enough and that is why I came to download it. Question Is there any way to configure nfsRun so that the effect of the clock does not fade in and out? Comment Thank you and sorry. I don't really know what to say.
